Background statement – where you set the context for your essay
Issue(s) – where you outline the specific issues that are relevant to your essay
Thesis – where you state your position in relation to the issues
Scope – where you outline what exactly is going to be covered in relation to your argument

Each paragraph should focus on one idea only.

The idea can then be developed in a number of ways, such as through explanation, evaluation, exemplification or incorporation of research data.

Your paragraphs should be balanced—keep to the rule of no less than 3 sentences per paragraph.

Your paragraphs should link together—use connective words, both within and between paragraphs, to keep a sense of cohesion and linkage.

Begin with a link to the preceding paragraph.

Restate your thesis and summarise your principal points.

End with a broad statement relating to the significance of your argument.
